Twelve Hundred Children Attend Home Mission Rally

Throng Pouring Out of Church Causes "Grown-ups" to Stop, Look, and Listen, and Hark Back to Younger Days.

Hundreds of "grown-ups" hurrying home from a long day's work last evening, were halted by the spectacle of a host of 1,200 happy children pouring out of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. They tarried, these "grown-ups," and watched the youngsters troop happily away in all directions, and with wistful expressions in their eyes. They, too, then turned slowly and started homeward.

The horde of 1,200 Sunday school children invaded the church yesterday afternoon and held possession during the closing rally of Home Mission Week. Yesterday was the day which all of the Sunday school children of the District had been looking forward to for the past week. It was their day, set aside especially for them by the leaders of the Home Mission movement. The enthusiasm displayed by the youngsters proved that no mistake had been made in setting aside the last day of the week's celebration as a fitting finale of a great movement.

Long before the appointed time, hundreds of laughing children, chattering and storming the doors of the edifice and impatiently awaited their opening. Children of every class were to be found in the gathering. The children, who had amused themselves while waiting for the doors to open by playing tag in the streets, dodging in and out among the swift-moving automobiles and street cars, regardless of their danger. Timid little girls clung plaintively to their nurses' hands and hid their faces when some bold young Lochinvar, wishing to become acquainted, cast mischievous eyes upon them or taunted them about being "led to their nurses' apron strings."

When once the doors were opened and they gained admission to the church they lost all their timidity, and their faces bright with the innocent smiles of youth and their eyes reverently fixed upon the speakers, drank every word of the message of "Good Will Toward All."

Mrs. Wallace Radcliffe, wife of the pastor of the church, in simple words told the children of the great good they could do in bringing the unfortunate wife of the poor classes to Sunday school and thus giving them the right start in life. Mrs. Radcliffe's talk was illustrated with stereoscopic views.

Mrs. Florence Stephenson, of the Farm Mission School at Asheville, N. C., told of the work she was doing among the children of the mountaineers of North Carolina. The eyes of the children filled with wonder when she told them that there were children living in the mountains who had never heard of the story of the life of Jesus.

The meeting yesterday afternoon was the last of the series held all during the week to forward the home mission movement. Mrs. H. S. Pinkham, prominent in the movement in the District, presided at the meeting.

"DRAG" IS ENJOYED BY HUNT LOVERS

Riding and Hunt Club Gallop Across Seven Miles of Country.

Nine members of the Riding and Hunt Club of Washington participated in a "drag" hunt that lasted for more than an hour yesterday afternoon and took the hunters across about seven miles of the country between Edgewood and the Goldsborough farm. A pack of fifteen hounds was tried out. The hunt club places a larger hunt, to take place Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, probably in the morning.

The huntmen started from Edgewood in their ride across field and dell about 2:30 o'clock. The hunt was finished without mishap of any consequence. The hounds ridden by Walter R. Tuckerman, master of hounds, fell one of the jumps, but the rider suffered no injury. There were one or two other minor spills, that caused no worse injury than stopping the rider for a few minutes. The course of the hunt contained seven fences and three ditches. A number of people drove out from Washington to watch the sport. Part of the run was across the property owned up for the new electric line from Washington to Great Falls.

Those taking part in the run were: Col. Robert Means Thompson, Mrs. Sinclair Bowen, Miss MacMurray, John O. Evans, George Morris Evans, the Misses Howard, P. W. Blackwood, Miss Blackwood, Miss Terman, riding mistress at the Riding and Hunt Club of Washington, and James Murphy and Edward Gorman, riding masters at the club, who acted as huntsman and first whip, respectively.

Among those who drove out from Washington were Mrs. Robert Means Thompson, Miss Julia Wood, Miss Hilda Byrnes, Mrs. Robert H. Chapman, and Mr. and Mrs. George Howland Chase.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

Annual Meeting to Be Held at Rauscher's December 2.

The annual meeting of the Associated Charities will take place at Rauscher's on Tuesday evening, December 2, at 8 o'clock. The principal speakers of the evening will be Miss Julia C. Lathrop, chief of the Federal Children's Bureau, and Dr. Jacob H. Hollander, professor of political economy, Johns Hopkins University. The general topic will be "The Abolition of Poverty."

Dr. Hollander has spoken and written much on this subject. He is an accomplished international reputation, what he has to say carries the weight of recognized scholarship. Dr. Hollander, it will be recalled, was sent by special commissioner to Santo Domingo under President Roosevelt to reorganize the finances of that republic. He has also represented the United States in other important fiscal matters.

This will be the first public appearance of Miss Lathrop in Washington since her appointment as chief of the Federal Children's Bureau. She has the reputation of being an excellent speaker. It is probable that she will approach the question of the prevention of poverty from the point of view of the child as our greatest national asset.

Dowling noted an appeal and gave bond in the sum of $1,000. The indictment against Dowling contained forty-two counts, of which he was found guilty on two.

U. S. CAVALRYMEN CLASH WITH REBELS

Two Soldiers Cross Border and Engage in Fight—Passenger Train Is Attacked.

Another clash between American soldiers and Mexicans along the international boundary was reported to the War Department yesterday. Gen. Stever telegraphed that two United States cavalrymen went across the line into the Mexican town of San Ignacio, and there became involved in a fight with some Mexicans. One of the soldiers was wounded, and one of the Mexicans was also injured. The Americans were arrested, and are now being held by the authorities at Juarez. They will be brought before the civil courts at Juarez. Other fights between Americans and Mexicans along the border have been reported to the War Department recently.

Gen. Salazar left Palomas yesterday, according to dispatches received here, and it is believed that he intends to attack either Juarez or Casas Grandes. The wounded soldiers, who crossed the border at the town of Columbus, N. Mex., are being given medical aid and food and shelter by the United States Army officers there. The American Red Cross yesterday telegraphed the sum of $200 to its representative in El Paso, to be used in the purchase of food and supplies for the wounded Mexicans.

A passenger train on the Mexican Central line which arrived at Juarez yesterday was attacked by rebels while en route from Chihuahua. Bridges were burned before and behind the train, and then the rebels fired into the coaches. No casualties were reported.

It was reported yesterday that William N. Pink, American superintendent of the San Toy Mining Company, had bought off his release by payment of $5,000 in Mexican currency to the rebels who kidnapped him.

MRS. FRAZIER GIVES BOND.

Woman Accused of Violating Postal Laws Gets Security.

United States Commissioner Isaac R. Hitt yesterday held in $5,000 bond to await the action of the grand jury Mrs. B. I. Frazier, of 132 Massachusetts Avenue Northeast, on a charge of violating section 211 of the Penal Code, prohibiting the use of the mails to suggest any medical practice or to advertise for sale medicines or instruments for illegal use.

Mrs. Frazier furnished bond and was released. In the bond made by Mrs. Frazier yesterday, her name is given as Nettie M. Bunker, which the government alleges is her real name. Assistant United States Attorney Hildebrandt appeared for the government. Mrs. Frazier being represented by Henry L. Quinn. The witnesses questioned at the preliminary hearing were Post-office Inspector Henry H. Henry and Mrs. Sarah V. Farling, a matron at the police department.

Letters written as decoys by the post-office inspector, together with the replies purporting to have been mailed to the writer of the letters by Mrs. Frazier, were submitted as evidence.

The preliminary hearing of Dr. Thomas F. Frazier, arrested in the same raid, will be held before United States Commissioner Anson S. Taylor Monday morning.

LEAVES FOR FRONT.

Maj. F. C. Fauntleroy to Observe War Methods in Balkans.

Maj. Powell C. Fauntleroy, Medical Corps, United States Army, left Washington yesterday afternoon for New York, whence he will sail next week for the Balkans. Maj. Fauntleroy is the first United States Army officer ordered to the scene of the war against Turkey. He has been instructed to observe as far as is possible the methods by which the Balkans and their allies cared for their wounded after the line of battle had been advanced far from the Turkish frontier.

Permission for Maj. Fauntleroy to attach himself to the army of the allies is being sought by the representatives of the State Department in the Balkans. Maj. Fauntleroy will go to Vienna, and it is hoped that by the time he reaches that city the required permission will have been granted by the allied governments. If this permission is obtained, other United States Army officers now in Europe will be ordered to proceed at once to the scene of the war.
